

Abstract

Paper machine

The invention relates, inter alia, to a paper machine for producing paper that can be gravure printed from a fibrous stock suspension, which can be supplied successively to a wire section, a pressing section, a drying section, a film press having a film roll for applying a coating color, a calender arranged downstream of the film press, and can be wound up on a paper roll.

Fig. 1